NO. 52

WASHINGTON, July 8. - The Senate amendments to the House bill for the admission of the State of Wyoming were concurred in by the House.

The conference report on the silver bill was then taken up. Senator Vest proceeded to state his reasons why he should vote against the report. Mr. Coke expressed concurrence in the conclusion reached by Mr. Vest and said he proposed to vote against the conference bill, because he preferred the law as it now stood.

Mr. Sherman defended and explained the conference report.

Mr. Voorhees said the trouble about the conference bill was not whether the Secretary of Treasury would obey the law, but that every single section of the bill gave discretion to the Secretary of the Treasury, who was packed against silver. Every single section of the bill conferred and was intended to confer discretion on the Secretary of the Treasury by which he could destroy, dishonor and degrade silver as money. He did not reflect upon the present Secretary of the Treesury, as the treasury department had been packed against silver ever since he (Voorhees) had been a member of the Senate, not merely under the Republican party but also under his own party, until he was weary of it.

Mr. Teller said that much as he dis-liked the adoption of a half way meas-ure he was compelled to support the bill as the only measure which could bring relief to the people of the United States for the next few months. Congress would assemble in December next and if the bill did not work well, it should be reformed at the next session. He was restrained by courtesy to another body (the House of representatives) from expressing his opinion with regard to its course. The body which has been considered the representative body of the American people absolutely flouted in the face of the American people the demands made upon it by Wall street, disregarding public sentiment. There has been no lobby in either House, but there never has been such a pressure brought upon Congress brought upon it at this session to defeat the free coinage of silver. He believed it impossible to secure free coinage at the present session, because the voice of the majority of the House was stifled and not to be heard and it would never be heard until the people of the United States sent to the House and the Senate men willing to represent them in spite of exterior influences.

The frightened inbabitants were aroused from their sleep and lights were shining from windows all over the city, but outside there was nothing but darkness and tempest and nothing could be heard but the angry roar of the wind and the crashing of the flying debris.

At 4 o'clock the people were hurrying in every direction to ascertain the amount of damage done. The appalling discovery was soon made of the death of the seven children of the late Capt. Jas. McCarthy, who died only a few weeks ago. The children were at home with their mother and saught safety in the coal bin, where they were all crushed to death. The mother was seriously injured, but it is though that she will recover. A few other persons sustained slight injuries.

The Northern Pacific through north bound train was blown from the track, and many of the passengers were securely but not dancerously injured.

Reasonable Demand for Exemption From Taxation for Five Years Only Made.

The following communication was ent to this office by Colonel C. S. Masten, Vice President and Manager of the Maricopa & Phonix Railroad company, yesterday. It is a document that will be read with more than ordinary interest by every resident in the valley: To the People of Maricopa County: By direction of the President of the Maricopa & Phoenix Railroad company, I have to announce that its directory has determined to extend its line to the north line of the county within the next eighteen months and as much further north within that period as may be possible. To that end it has purchased the organization of the Arizona Central Railway company, now on file in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, and has the promise of the right ot way over the greater portion of the cultivated lands in the valley on its line to the desert, whence its course is clear.

It will ask no subsidy of the county and its rates will be governed by the requirements of the Territorial Legislature. But it will ask that it be exempted from Territorial and county taxation forty feet to the mile and there will be for a period of five years, and that when it is assessed it shall be valued gine has just been made to the survey. other local roads and not be compelled to repeat the experience of the first years of its existence, during which, because it was built in a firstclass manner and well equipped, it has been valued at from $1800 to $3000 per mile more than other local railroads in the Territory, forcing upon it the necessity of contesting in the courts the payment of the taxes imposed upon a valuation so manifestly unfair and partial.

C. S. MASTEN, V. P. and Manager M. & P. R. R. In making this announcement I take occasion to refer to the misrepresentapersonal action, while the question of extension was pending it would have possible, save the county from the imposition of a debt which might be and has proven entirely unnecessary.
